the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million (1990-2000) (Office for National Statistics 2001).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health care needs of the elderly population. The Department of Health (2000) has set out a strategy for the care of the elderly, which includes a commitment to improve the quality of care for the elderly. The strategy is based on the following principles: (1) to ensure that the elderly are treated as individuals; (2) to ensure that the elderly are treated with respect and dignity; (3) to ensure that the elderly are treated as equal citizens; (4) to ensure that the elderly are treated as active members of society; (5) to ensure that the elderly are treated as equal partners in their care; (6) to ensure that the elderly are treated as equal partners in their care; (7) to ensure that the elderly are treated as equal partners in their care.
